Convocation tomorrow will outline students' mill levy campaign

OU students will get a complete survey tomorrow of the university's mill levy campaign. They will also learn more of what they can do to help.

Dr. Milo Bail, Charles Hoff, Don Pflasterer and Student George Marling will speak at the 9:30 all-student convocation. Classes will follow a shortened schedule of 8:45-9:25, 10:30-11:10 and 11:15-11:55.

The speakers will present information and will stress the need for active student support of the campaign. That support is being channelled by a Student Campaign Committee with headquarters in the student lounge.

Workers needed.

The committee needs hundreds of student workers. "The most crucial need," according to George Marling, committee chairman, "is for door-to-door workers this weekend and polling workers next Thursday." Volunteers may register at any time in the student lounge.

Registration cards for student workers will also be passed out by the Feathers at tomorrow's assembly. The OU band will play before and after the speaking session. A question-answer period is also scheduled.

Needs and plans

President Bail will talk on needs and plans of the university. Hoff, vice president in charge of finance, will describe the actual effect of the mill levy. Because both men will discuss facts which voters may want to know, all student workers have been asked to attend the meeting.

Marling will outline in more detail the student phase of the campaign. Pflasterer, temporary alumni secretary, will speak briefly on alumni campaign activities.

Door-to-door campaign materials will be available at the committee headquarters Thursday. Sample ballots for distribution at the polls can be picked up next Monday.

Dr. Bail played host to 60 campus leaders at a faculty clubroom luncheon Friday. He told the students that a good or bad Ma-ie Day Friday showing might win or lose the election.

Registration dates set for summer, fall and night school terms

Registration for the 1951 fall term will begin Monday and end May 18. Students may also register on Sept. 11 and 12. The regular late registration date is Sept 17, while the last possible day to enroll is Sept. 28.

Summer school and night school students may register from the 14th to the 18th. Counselors will be in their offices during the registration week and next fall. Appointments may be obtained at their convenience.

The regular schedule and forms will be available during the registration week at the office of the registrar.

Ma-ie Day fun, festivities will give students holiday from school Friday

Gorman joins national education commission

Dr. Frank Gorman, dean of the College of Education, has been appointed to the United States Office of Education Commission of Life Adjustment Education for Youth.

He will be an alternate representative for a three year term for the National School Boards Association.

Dr. Gorman will serve as Guest Director for the Vocations Day Program at Malvern, Iowa, today.

Activities include breakfast at Elmwood, Pow Wow, downtown parade, skits, dance

"No more teachers, no more books"—Friday.

OU students will slide out of their routine and into a day of confusion, fun and prizes then for the university's Ma-ie Day. Classes will be skipped—legally—as the yearly celebration starts off at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 12:30 a.m.

Last class day is May 23

Office of the Registrar has announced that classes will meet Wednesday, May 23 until final exams start at 3:15.

The 3:15 exams include the freshman English courses, 109, 111, and 112.

Festivities will begin with a breakfast at the Elmwood Park picnic grounds. The menu includes bacon and egg baskets, oranges, cinnamon rolls and coffee. Following the dawn picnic, the Indians will swarm over the Stadium grounds for the first Ma-ie Day Pow-Wow. At that time Princess Attira XVII will be presented to the tribe of OUampi.

Parade route

Next, the Indians will go on the warpath through downtown Omaha. The parade is scheduled to get underway at 11 a. m. Floats and registered cars will enter Elmwood Park in the east driveway. From here the parade will move east on Dodge Street to 30th, north to California Street, east to 20th Street, south on 20th to Farnam Street east to 15th Street, north to Dodge Street, and then west on Dodge back to the university.

Floats will be judged three times: once at the university for appearance, during the parade for presentation, and again at the university for construction.

A layover until 3 p. m. will precede the presentation of the skits. Only the eight finalists will be given, in order to present a better and faster program for the students.

Dance is climax

The annual tribal dance will be held at Peony Park, beginning at 9 p. m. Jimmy Palmer and his orchestra are in charge of the day's celebration. Overall Chairman Nancy Jones has the following committee chairman working with her: Syntha Judd, skit; Dick Beem, dance; Pat Livingston, breakfast; Ray Hampton, parade, and Jo Larkin, publicity. Home Ec Co-chairmen for the breakfast are Eda Ree Hens and Regina Har-

Kincaide closes 22-year teaching career at Omaha University

By Eileen Brown

After 22 years of teaching at Omaha University, Miss Gertrude Kincaide is retiring as head of the Department of Foreign Languages. She will be succeeded by Dr. Christopher Espinosa.

Miss Kincaide has, as she herself says, "had the unusual and wonderful experience of growing-up with the institution." She came to teach at the university before it became municipal, and has since seen it through its "ups and downs."

With obvious enthusiasm, Miss Kincaide says: "There is no better career, especially for women, than that of being a college instructor. It is a wonderfully satisfying career, but, of course, you must love it just as a nurse must love her's. The feeling must be there."

The feeling must certainly be there with Miss Kincaide, for she has taught at Nebraska University for three years; taught for a similar number of years in the American schools in Puerto Rico; and has also taught at the 'Lincoln' high schools of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Cleveland, Ohio.

Active in organizations both in and out of the university,

In a few weeks OU will be brightened by the magic voice of radio—through the new station KWOU. Programming will include, The Gateway says, news, sports, music and drama.

No mention is made of commercials. This is an oversight I hope. Radio just wouldn't be radio without commercials. There's plenty of material; if the boys get on the ball we'll probably hear something like this:

"Do you fall asleep in classroom? Suffer from nagging tests? Feel twinges of boredom or the dull pains of loaded homework? Then switch to R. Wayne Wilson, the only professor with a built-in bow tie. Wilson works fast—relieves headaches of an academic nature. Try Wilson tomorrow and feel young again."

This program was brought to you by Humanities, Humanities, the friendly survey course. Humanities is made to a Dr's prescription, and contains our patented neutralizing agent, Aristotle. If you want a course, get the big course with the big course with the big names—Humanities. Ask for it at your registrars tomorrow...."

Besides commercials KWOU has another nice possibility: listening to lectures while laying on the lawn with a portable radio.

Class misery gets watch for Somny

Seems Mr. Somny's old watch broke down. And the Sociology 216 class, which meets at 11 on M-W-F was feeling the effect. Things were really getting drastic after one student was 10 minutes late for lunch at the Shack. So the enterprising students pooled their resources to buy Somny a watch, the Mickey Mouse variety, no less.

Last week the small oblong package was on his desk before class started.

See you Ma-ie Day.

The chips are down . . .

OU has now entered what may be the most critical week in its history. Seven days from today Omaha voters will decide whether the University of Omaha is to continue to serve all of the community.

The voters will base their decision on Omaha University's 20-year record as a municipal institution. More than that, the voters will base their decision on the university's performance during the next seven days.

That points up the tremendous importance of Ma-ie Day, 1951. Students will display their floats to thousands of Omaha citizens. Through the accompanying publicity, other thousands will see and hear about the university. This year, certainly, there is no room for drinking parties, reckless driving, and other hijinks.

OU '9' will tackle Wesleyan batsmen

By Roger Orr

The OU baseball team is about to set a new season's record. Down in Arkansas they played two straight games without a rain-out. Providing it doesn't rain tomorrow, the Nebraska Wesleyan game at Wahoo will be the third game in a row without a postponement.

Wesleyan went eight innings with only one run separating them and the undefeated Creighton nine last Wednesday, but lost the game 10-6.

They sport classy right handed curve-baller in "Gus" Gustafson. He is a small fellow, with a fast ball also. Gustafson is probably the number one hurler, and is certainly their number one righthander.

Bob Kropp, a left-handed Plainsman, is another pitcher who has been taking his regular turns on the mound. In his most recent outing he defeated a pick-up team from Doane college, 5-4. The Doane team calls itself the Wilber Weiners.

Gaston excels

Since Gustafson hasn't pitched since last Wednesday, he is the logical choice to meet the Indians.

Bob Gaston, their shortstop and clean-up hitter is a long ball hitter, and has been driving in more than his share of runs all season. He can also field with the best of college infielders.

"Yogi" Weston does most of the catching for the plainsmen. He is a squat fellow with an abundance of hustle, who can also hit. First baseman Rainforth bats lead off, and in the last two ball games has hit twice.

OUWI will present recognition awards

The women's sports organization, OUWI, will entertain its members at the first annual recognition banquet Monday, May 14.

The banquet will be held at the Blackstone Hotel from 6:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of plaques and trophies to individuals and teams who have been outstanding in certain sports throughout the year.

A single trophy will be given to the team having the highest accumulative score for the year. This trophy, a traveling one, will be presented for the first time Monday night. Plaques will be awarded to teams winning in individual sports. They will hang in the women's P. E. Hut.

Golfers face three matches this week

Today, tomorrow, and Friday are busy days for the Red and Black linksmen. They play host to Midland here this afternoon, visit Doane tomorrow, and travel to Morningside Friday. This will be the first contest with Midland this year, while the OU men have conquered the other two squads once this season. Doane fell to the Indians in a triangular meet with Washburn by a 9½-2½ count, while the Morningside crew visited Omaha only to go home on the short end of a 15½-5½ score last Thursday. Bob Russell was the only Indian who didn't fare too well against the Maroons. He was upset in a close 2-1 match with Wayne Burke.

Baseballers drop pair to Iowa Teachers as bad innings spoil well played contests

Omaha U's baseball team, and especially Bob Offerjost, lost its second close game within eight days.

Friday afternoon Iowa Teachers spilled the Indians, 2-1, as Offerjost lost a seven hitter. "Big Bob" had scattered five hits until the seventh. But then a double and a triple netted the Tutors the winning run.

Omaha's lone run came in the third inning when, after two infield errors, "Bugs" Redden slammed a single for the tally. Redden finished the day with a perfect mark, with two singles, a walk and a sacrifice.

Firstbaseman Don Claussen got the only Omaha extra-base hit, with a double. The Indians received eight free passes, got five hits and left ten men stranded on the bases.

Nalty cops century in Sioux City meet

Joe Nalty was the only OU trackman to win an event at the Sioux City Relays Friday.

Nalty, the Indian speedster, won the 100-yard dash in ten seconds flat. This is Nalty's best winning time for the season.

Netsters dump Maroons, tally fifth conquest

Another opponent has bit the dust in OU tennis play. Morningside was the hapless victim at Dewey Courts Thursday as the Indian netters rolled to their fifth win in eight contests. One was a tie match. The last club to top Omaha was always-dangerous Washburn. The Ichabods did it a few weeks ago.

It was the same story in this match as it has been during the other five wins. The opposition didn't have a chance. Fred Pisasale and Dale Womer led the way by whitewashing their victims, 6-0, 6-0. Dean Hancock was the unlucky person to face Pisasale, while Mike Schragg was Womer's target.

The Maroons have not been able to find the answer to Omaha's power for the past three years. In 1948, the Indians slipped away with a 4-4 victory. In 1949 it was more decisive, with Omaha U's baseballers are still trying to hit the win trail. The squad lost its fifth game of the season Saturday to Iowa Teachers, 7-5.

The Indians took the lead in the fourth inning, when the Tutors made four straight errors. But Omaha then turned around and committed three themselves in the fifth, and the Teachers used them to tie the score. The lone hit of the inning was a triple, good for two runs.

The Teachers won the game in the sixth as they received three walks, one batter was hit by a pitched ball and two men singled for three runs.

Omaha picked up six hits, to five for the Tutors, but Indian pitchers Bud Bridenbaugh and Lynn Booten walked five and four hitters, respectively.

Coach Virg Yelkin jostled his line-up in the second game of the series. Larry Micheels started at third base, and contributed two hits. The other changes saw Jim Danze behind the plate and Jerry Guinane in rightfield. Danze got two hits, and the only Indian extra-base hit a double. Guinane rapped a single and batted in a run.
